Merchants Bank Deposits Now Up To $10,000 in Federal Deposit Insurance Co.

W. J. Cox, Jr., executive vice-president of the Merchants Bank and Trust Co., today announced that the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, Washington, D. C., has issued certificates of membership giving the bank coverage to $10,000. The Merchants Bank & Trust Co. has been a member of FDIC since August, 1935.

Cox pointed out that this insurance does not cost depositors of the bank a single penny. The surplus of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation now exceeds $1,300,000,000, in addition to all deposit insurance losses and operating expenses of the Corporation has been paid in by the 13,650 member banks of the Nation in the form of annual assessments based on their total deposits.

Under the leadership of its Chairman, Maple T. Hart, and his predecessor, Mr. Cox said, "the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation has made and Wyoming where the count remained the same as the year before, the number of failures were small, there being only one in New York and Wyoming each, two in Utah and three in Virginia."

A letter from FDIC Chairman Hart accompanied the certificate. It read in part:

"This certificate can be displayed in your banking rooms with pride in the accomplishments of a Corporation in which you and 13,600 other banking institutions are banded together for the protection of your depositors' funds."

"Each bank can take a great share of the credit for the fact that nearly seven years have passed since an insured bank was placed in receivership. Improved bank management coupled with diligent bank supervision, plus Federal deposit insurance have brought to our nation an era free from the specter of losses to depositors and eliminated the dread of the devastating

Mrs. R. DeMontluzin SPEAKS BEFORE BUDGET STUDY GROUP TUES.

Mrs. Rene deMontluzin spoke on the National Budget at the final meeting of the National Budget Study Group of the League of Women Voters on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John McDonald on Bay View Court.

The report outlined the work of the budget group headed by Mrs. McDonald and Mrs. John Ball which has been active through the winter months.

Mrs. deMontluzin's report was clear and concise and gave a graphic over all picture of facts pertaining to the National budget for 1951 and that proposed for 1951. She explained that after the president's budget message is sent to Congress each item is voted upon separately.

A breakdown of the 1950 budget compared to the proposed budget beginning in the fiscal year of 1951, which starts on July 1 revealed the following:

1950 BUDGET BASED ON $1.00 INCOME

Individual income taxes, 43c; corporation taxes, 28c; excise taxes, 19c; customs receipts, 8c; new miscellaneous taxes, 2c.

EXPENDITURES (1950)

Military, 34c; international aid, 16c; veterans, 13c; int. on national debt, 6c; social security, 13c; social security, 6c; all other expenses of gov., 18c.

PROPOSED FOR 1951

Individual income taxes 58c; corporation taxes, 27c; excise taxes, 11c; customs receipts, 4c; new miscellaneous taxes, 23c.

EXPENDITURES

Military, 58c; international aid, 10c; veterans, 7c; int. on national debt, 8c; social security, 17c.

Mrs. deMontluzin said that in his budget message the president asked Congress to increase the national debt to 71 billion dollars with 69 billion of this to be used for armed strength. In addition to this he stated that he wished to charge against the national debt an additional 94 million dollars.

The president blamed the colossal figures in the proposed budget on Russia.

Miss Louise Milner, From Miss. Southern Spending Week in Study at REA

Louise Milner, home economics senior from Mississippi Southern, has been spending a week in Bay St. Louis working with the Coast Electric Power Association in field study for which she will get credit for her B. S. in June.

Miss Milner is blonde, pretty and petite and it is a fact that she won't be in the field of home economics long except in a purely domestic way. She is a resident of Gulfport when not away at school and the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Harrison County.

Last week Miss Milner was busy with demonstrations of laundry equipment, visits to homes in Hancock County which are using electrical equipment and a trip to observe the lighting improvements in the Leetown School.

This week her itinerary included a trip to Pacyune with Miss Loyette Webb, Coast Electric Power Company's home economist expert, to contact newspapers and dealers in electrical equipment, and visits to home near Pacyune in a followup program to help those who are using electrical equipment.

On Friday there was a lighting demonstration at the McNeil School devoted to plans for setting up a home study center for the child with proper lighting and also a discussion of problems in the home economic classes at the school.

Electric dealers in Bay St. Louis were visited in the interest of promoting the use of home electric equipment.

Since Miss Milner is minoring in English, part of her field work consisted of a thesis on her home demonstration work and a radio script which she wrote for the Coast Electric Power Association's daily broadcast.

She finished her weeks work with a conference with Hardin Statuck, Coast Electric's manager in which an evaluation and summary of her work was made.

Miss Milner stated, in her opinion, the Coast Electric Power Association had made tremendous progress in educating the people of the county to the use of home and farm electrical equipment and that the preliminary work done by the Co-op had greatly facilitated her own field work.

She is one of three girls who are doing seven weeks of field work in the home economics equipment class and will go from here to Gulfport for further training.

GERALD PRICE ANNOUNCES FOR SHERIFF

We are authorized to announce the candidacy of Gerald V. Price for the office of Sheriff and Tax-Collector of Hancock County, Mississippi, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary election to be held August 7, 1951.

Mr. Price's statement to the voters of the county follows:

TO THE WHITE QUALIFIED ELECTORS OF HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI

In offering myself as a candidate for the office of Sheriff and Tax-Collector of Hancock County, I do so full well realizing the high responsibility that this office carries with it.

It has been my pleasure to serve the people of Beat Five in the capacity of Constable for fourteen years, and in that way, I have acquired what I believe experience sufficient to qualify me to run the office of Sheriff and Tax-Collector, if the good people of Hancock County see fit to elect me.

It is my purpose in offering myself as a candidate for Sheriff and Tax-Collector, to run solely on my merits, and not upon the demerits of my opponents. It will be my purpose, if elected, to be on call for twenty-four hours of the day, as I have been as Constable of Beat Five. I will personally answer all calls made to me.

Not only will I be available for police and law enforcement duties in the strict sense of the word, but in times of storms and other disasters, I will personally conduct my office in such a way that there will be no looting or other advantages taken of the unfortunate who are hurt by the catastrophe. I will be on call for twenty-four hours a day to help the people of Hancock County, regardless of the occasion.

It is my purpose to have deputies spotted throughout the County, so that each and every Beat will be able to call upon a law enforcement officer, immediately, in times of need.

The people of Hancock County, I believe, know my record as constable, and on this record alone, I feel that I have the right to ask people to give serious consideration to my candidacy. I have served Beat Five for fourteen years. Let me serve five beats for four years.

RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED, GERALD V. PRICE, SR.

URGES EARLY ORDER OF MATERIALS FOR SOIL CONSERVATION

By ordering their lime early and taking delivery when it is ready, farmers of Hancock County can help assure themselves of getting the amount needed for their 1951 agricultural conservation practices, says Fitzhugh Lee, chairman of the Hancock County PMA Committee. He explains that in order to turn out the lime needed, lime crushers will have to operate full time. In order to operate full time they must move the lime out of their plants as soon as it is crushed since there is little storage space. That means, of course, that crushers must have their orders on hand before they can operate.

Early applications of lime has a number of advantages for farmers, the chairman points out. When it is applied to the land early, there is a longer time to bring about the changes which promote the growth of legumes. The soil also has more time to settle into a firm seedbed which is so necessary for the germination of small seeds. And of course, there is the very practical advantage that farmers who get their lime on during the winter will not have to take the time out to spread the lime during the rush spring season.

"If farmers follow their customary practices," said the chairman, "and wait until it is time to prepare their land for a legume crop, they may find that they cannot obtain the lime they want. With the manpower shortage that already exists, which will not get any better, lime crushers will not be able to get crews to operate more than one shift. Even if more lime could be crushed there probably will be shortages of transportation to haul all of it in a short time." Under the 1951 PMA Program limestone is available to farmers in Hancock County. The amount available will be governed by the number of acres of land in cultivation and the numbers of acres of land in pasture. A separate allowance is set aside on each farm under the 1951 program in the amount of $100 per acre of cropland and $100 per acre of non-crop open pasture land not to exceed $100.00 to be used for liming materials. The rate of payment which the PMA will give assistance is $4.20 per ton. According to these figures it will be impossible to apply lime to all cropland on an individual farm, yet by applying some each year, it is possible over a period of years all cropland will receive the required lime stone. At present there are two vendors in Pearl River County who handle lime stone. The Farmers Warehouse has been set up as a Vendor to furnish bagged lime stone at $7.50 per ton and The City Cash Feed Store has been set up as a Vendor to deliver and spread bulk lime at $7.95 per ton.

In order to obtain your lime you may either write or call the PMA office in Bay St. Louis and request information pertaining to the liming program but we suggest that you call by the office and find out exactly the funds available for your farm and obtain a purchase order for this material.

With the price of this material as of today, it will cost approximately $3.75 per ton delivered and spread or $3.30 in bags.

Please place your order at an early date so that this work can be completed prior to planting.

Mission at Our Lady of the Gulf Church This Week Is Largely Attended

Mr. Hayden Campbell, of Jackson, and candidate for Lt. Governor, was a visitor to Bay St. Louis recently. While here he called on County and City officials and also visited the Eagle office. He is a former newspaper man and member of the state legislature.

ASK BRIDGE SITE RECONSIDERED

Between 50 and 100 telegrams have been sent to the state highway commission this week asking that it reconsider its action authorizing the relocation of the Bay St. Louis bridge on US Highway 90.

Howard LeTissier, owner of the Reed Hotel, said that telegrams were being sent by both business persons and property owners, "many of whom are not on the old or proposed route of the highway."

He said that no formal request for a reopening of the bridge case is being made at this time, and that "we are just letting the highway commission know we are still interested, if they will let us keep our foot in the door."

Last week end, Chairman Sidney Roebuck of the commission said the body had not been asked formally to review its decision to relocate the bridge approximately 2000 feet north of its present location.

LeTissier said that R. W. Thompson, Gulfport attorney, who had served as counsel for a protesting group before the commission three weeks ago, had been employed to "carry this thing all the way through."

He indicated that the group may resort to court action in an effort to prevent the movement of the bridge and the highway route from the U. S. Avenue route.

The hotel owner said he felt that "the people down here want it where it is" and he pointed out that "this also includes the people on the northern location."

The proposed bridge is expected to cost about $7,800,000. It will be a four-lane concrete bridge to replace the present wooden structure across the bay.

The 1950 Legislature authorized construction of the bridge and issuance of revenue bonds to be retired from a toll on the bridge.

OUR LADY OF THE GULF CHURCH

Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church has been filled to capacity for the mission which has been held this week beginning last Monday evening at 7:30 and ending on Friday.

The crowd at the church and lined up on the streets for several blocks were reminiscent of mid-night mass and interest in the mission has increased daily.

The Rev. Kenneth D. Hoffman of Chicago a member of the Archdiocese of Chicago Mission Band, who is conducting the mission is a forceful and interesting speaker and pulls no punches in his sermons.

Father Hoffman, who devoted his time to the conducting of Missions leaves his congregation feeling that there is a lot that they can do about themselves in a spiritual way.

In a time of national stress, when according to recent statistics attendance at amusements has dropped 37% and church attendance has almost doubled a week long mission appears to have filled a need felt by anxious confused citizens.

The mission was open to Catholics and non-Catholics of all ages. Masses were held daily at six and seven-thirty and evening services consisted of novena and short sermons. Benediction and the litany interspersed with hymns. In addition to this instructions were given on the Sacraments, the Holy Mass, the Commandments of God, the Precepts of the church and other religious subjects.

THE SPIRIT OF '76

Today we celebrate the birthday of a great American, George Washington... and we say, "Thank you, George Washington for helping to establish a great tradition. First and one of our greatest presidents, Washington has been a worthy example and inspiration to all presidents succeeding him. His administration gave birth to many of the ideals of freedom and democracy which have been so important to happiness and prosperity in this great country of ours. We are happy indeed to observe the birthday of a truly great man."

Thus in this year of 1951 we stand today as Washington and his men stood more than 150 years ago ready to fight for our freedom. In those years America has changed from a small struggling nation to a great power, the spokesman of a free world.

Suddenly we begin to realize that history will always test us... now as in Washington's time. It becomes clear that we are never to have any real surcease from struggle unless we stand firm and united and continue to revolt against tyranny and totalitarianism, however disguised and wherever found. Only through continued effort, willingly and gladly given, can the idea of a free people in a free world be kept alive.

LETTERS

Editor, Hancock County Eagle

Dear Sir;

It has been interesting to note the results of Mrs. E. C. Samuel's efforts to alter the system of awarding Oscars at the Little Theater. Through discussions instigated by her at the annual meeting, and her letter in your paper, the board has taken action. Last week's papers reported this decision.

Few members would quarrel with the fact that there are shortcomings in the past arrangements. Some may feel that the new committee system is a little undemocratic, but it is difficult to devise a fairer means of choice by committee. In any case, it is not true that unless there is a vote by the membership, this action is flagrantly unconstitutional according to the by-laws? Does this situation not call for a special meeting at which the membership may amend the constitution if they so wish?

They Are Growing Up Together

By the time this four-year-old boy enters college, hand-planted pine seedlings like the one beside him will be ready to harvest as pulp wood. Trees like these, planted on land not well suited for other crops, can, if protected from fire and properly managed, yield regular cash crops of wood. They are like money in the bank.

PRICE FREEZE MAY HURT COTTON OUTPUT, IS BELIEF

Washington—The price freeze on cotton may discourage production of some 15,000,000 bales needed for national defense, Sen. Walter George (D-Ga.) said recently.

The veteran senator and chairman of the finance committee made his observation during hearings on a house approved measure to enlarge the government's authority to renegotiate contracts. Such renegotiation would be designed to prevent undue profits at government expense.

George was in agreement during the hearing with a spokesman for the cotton industry who asserted that the price freeze resulted in "a very confused condition" in all levels of the cotton trade.

W. D. Lawson, speaking for the national cotton council and the American cotton shippers association, asserted that until the freeze "cotton was worth $225 a bale but nobody knows what it is worth today."

Lawson and Charles G. Caffrey, testifying for the American Cotton Manufacturers' Institute, urged that all cotton transactions be exempted from renegotiation.

SOUTHERN BELL ASKS RATE HIKE IN STATE TO IMPROVE CREDIT

Jackson—The Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company wants to raise rates in Mississippi to prevent deterioration of its credit. This testimony was given to the Mississippi Public Service Commission recently by R. R. Stubbs of Atlanta, assistant vice-president in the company's finance department.

He told the commission his company now needs a 7.25 percent return on its investment in the state. Present earnings on the investment which figured at $35,000,000 is four percent, Stubbs said.

He testified in support of the company's petition for a $2,400,000 raise in rate revenue. The increase would bring the earnings to the 7.25 percent level.

Southern Bell received its last rate increase in 1948—the third since the end of World War II.

In order to attract sufficient capital investment to continue the company's expansion program, the higher earning level is necessary, Stubbs stated. He added that Southern Bell has spent about $7,500,000 on rural telephone expansion in the state since the end of the war.

The hearing was recessed until the commission's March meeting.

ST. STANISLAUS BAND AUXILIARY CARD PARTY

Members of the St. Stanislaus Band Auxiliary who planned the card party which was held Tuesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schmitt, reported that a very satisfactory amount was realized on the evening's entertainment with forty-three people in attendance at the party.

Tin prizes were awarded for the various card games. These were in the nature of hand made fancy work, home baked cakes and potted plants, all donated by members of the Auxiliary.

The Auxiliary is planning a series of benefit parties later, proceeds to be used to furnish necessary equipment for the St. Stanislaus Band.

NAVY REVEALS 'FLYING SAUCERS' WERE BIG PLASTIC BALLOONS

New York—A Navy official today said that "flying saucers" were big plastic balloons.

On June 1947, when the first clear physics branch of the Office of Naval Research made this disclosure in an article in the current Look magazine.

Liddel, in Washington, disclosed the Look story further when he was questioned.

The Navy balloons, Liddel declared, were 100 feet in diameter and sometimes rose to a height of 10 miles. He added that winds might sweep them along at 200 miles an hour.

At that, the elating rays of the sun lighted up the balloons' bottoms, giving them the saucer-like appearance, Liddel said.

He added that many of the disks were sighted in the sun set. Liddel said the existence of the big balloons were kept secret because the project was connected with atomic developments.

Liddel, who was in charge of the balloon tests, said they carried instruments to record the results of collisions between cosmic rays and atoms in the earth's atmosphere.

He added that secrecy was "no longer" necessary.

The physicist said 2,000 reports of "flying saucers" were checked, and those considered "whimsical" were eliminated. Of the "reliable" reports, he said, there is not a single case of observation which is not attributable to the cosmic balloons.

These balloons, called skyhooks by the Navy, were first used in 1947, about the time the disks were first sighted. Liddel said reports of "flying saucers" increased or decreased in proportion to the number of balloons sent aloft.

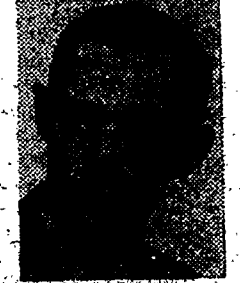

Liddel said he was convinced that a "saucer" photographed at 77,000 feet altitude over Minnesota was a skyhook.

Don't forget the big thing party this Saturday at the Knott Knott Club in New St. Louis. The proceeds from these parties go towards the American Legion building. Don't come and bring your friends.

Mrs. Karl Craft recently won the prize offered by the Joyce Smith Floral Trail Program on WDSU-TV. The prize was a large fancy leaf candelabra. Congratulations to Mrs. Craft.

The "Blue Jean Garden Club" met Monday, Feb. 19, at the home of Mrs. Abbie King of Clarendon Harbor. Mrs. E. A. Ozanham, formerly of Waveland but now living in Bay St. Louis, was the club's guest speaker. Mrs. Ozanham chose as her topic "Leaves and Leaf Arrangement." Mrs. Karl Craft won the blue ribbon for miniature arrangement.

Pretty, little Lynne Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman B. Hall, Jr., of Waveland celebrated her ninth birthday Saturday, Feb. 17 at the home of her parents on Beach Boulevard. Birthday decorations and prizes added to the youngsters' fun and later in the afternoon the children enjoyed ice cream and cake. Lynne received her guests in a pale pink corduroy dress with scalloped neck and sleeves. Over the dress she wore a pink sequined vest. Her guests included Miss Mary Margaret and Cecile Turcotte, who were also guests.

Parties at the Waveland School are always looked forward to by the children. The Valentine party on Feb. 14 was no exception. Each room had its own party. Misses Mary Margaret and Cecile Turcotte, had similar parties in their classrooms. Each room had a large heart shaped Valentine cake. Smaller heart shaped cakes were served with delicious punch. Favors were given and Valentines were exchanged among the children and teachers.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Weidman had their new daughter christened Sunday at St. Claire's Church on Beach Blvd. She was named Deborah Ann. Mr. Ducre Bourgeois and Mrs. Sidney Bourgeois were the infant's sponsors.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Bourgeois and daughter Aggie, Mrs. Walter Turcotte, Miss Cecile Turcotte and Miss Mary Margaret Turcotte visited friends and relatives in New Orleans on Sunday.

Congressional Sidelights

CONGRESSMAN WM. M. COLMAN

TAXES, INFLATION, EXPENDITURES

In the approximate six weeks that Congress has been in session very little legislation has been passed. The Congress, legislatively speaking, has been a committee rather than a body. This is nothing new. For, before legislation comes to the floor, it must be considered thoroughly in the committees. However, the bill on the floor is the quiet before the storm. The committees in both House and Senate are now considering some of the most controversial and far-reaching problems, submitted by the Administration, that have occupied the attention of the Congress in years. There is the question of another sharp increase in taxes, the consideration of the President's 71 1/2 billion-dollar budget, the highly controversial draft and manpower legislation, and, lastly, the question of sending troops to Europe. These are all momentous questions which will occupy the attention of the Congress on the floor for many months to come.

TAXES

The President has requested the Congress to take two bites at the taxpayer with the idea of raising enough taxes to meet the increased expenditures. Congress is balking at this system and sees no reason why it should not give this bitter dose in one package rather than increase the taxes 10 billion dollars now and later in the session come back with a further increase of 6 billion more. This may not be good politics but it makes good sense. This is the system that will likely be followed.

BUDGET

We have on our desk the President's budget request. It is broken down into the various requests of the several departments of the Government. The document itself consists of 1032 pages of fine print, and is larger than the Washington and twice as large as the New Orleans telephone directory. In its pages are found requests for a total of 71 1/2 billion dollars, more money than was required to run this government for the first hundred years of its existence. While it is true that two-thirds or more of this gigantic sum is for national defense, foreign aid, and the payment of previous wars, there is still a sizeable sum for domestic expenditures and administration of the bureau of government.

Of course, no patriotic American, who realizes the impending danger imposed by Communism and the necessity for national defense, wants to see the country inadequately prepared for war should Stalin decide, in desperation, on another world war. But every informed person knows that there is great waste of manpower and money in our national defense setup. Most of us here believe that substantial savings could be had in this field. The difficulty here, of course, is that the military brass has the advantage over the Congress in the knowledge of science, of opposing them when they say that so many billions are needed for atomic bombs, ships, armies, and modern weapons of warfare. On the other hand, the Congress is more familiar with the operation of Government on the home front and knows that substantial waste is going on and savings could be had.

NECESSITY FOR ECONOMY

Realizing the drain on the taxpayer, the ruinous inflation that accompanies such large expenditures, and the over all fact that this country, in spite of all its wealth, cannot continue to spend and spend and spend without having its own economy destroyed, some of us in the Congress are giving much time and study to an organized effort to cut down on the President's budget recommendations, and save as much as 5 to 7 billion dollars from the proposed expenditures and thereby reduce the burden of the American taxpayer and at the same time contribute to a balanced budget and the salvation of the Republic. If this is effected, it will have to come from the Southern Democrats and the Northern Republicans. The Administration Democrats would, of course, stand by the President's recommendations. The fight will last many months and politics will have to be forgotten if the objective is to be achieved.

MEAT HOARDING

Agriculture Department officials estimate that upward of one billion pounds of meat are stored away in family freeze units and lockers in anticipation of rationing—a quantity about equal to a two weeks' supply for the entire nation. If rationing is ordered, consumers undoubtedly will be required to state in their applications for ration cards how much meat they have on hand, with consequent deductions from their ration allowances.

THE WORK ON MED SCHOOL CAN NOW BEGIN IN JACKSON

A $204,000 grant for architects fees on the proposed Mississippi four-year medical school and teaching hospital has been allowed. This means that the actual planning of the $8,500,000 institution in Jackson will get under way at once. The school for the training of doctors in this State has been held up pending action on this grant by the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency of Community Facilities Service. E. J. Yelverton, secretary-auditor for the State Building Commission, which is in charge of the construction of the medical school training hospital and facilities, expressed the opinion that actual work on the buildings will get under way by January 1, 1952. He said that 18 months to two years would then be required for completion.

SYNTHETIC RUBBER

About 7,655 tons have been slashed by the Government off the amount of synthetic rubber, which will be available this month to make tires and other products for civilians. The NPA said no early shortage of tires is expected to result from the cut however.

The trouble with politics today is not politics, but calculating men who use politics for their own selfish ends.

How much expansion by 1960?

United Gas is now providing dependable natural gas service to well over twice as many customers as we served at the end of 1940. In the last ten years, our service has been made available to an additional 217,000 customers in this area. To keep step with the steady growth of the territory, our plans call for further large investments in new pipe lines and other facilities to serve still more customers and to assure more adequate supplies of fuel to industries on all parts of the system.

A LESSON the Newspaper has NEVER FORGOTTEN

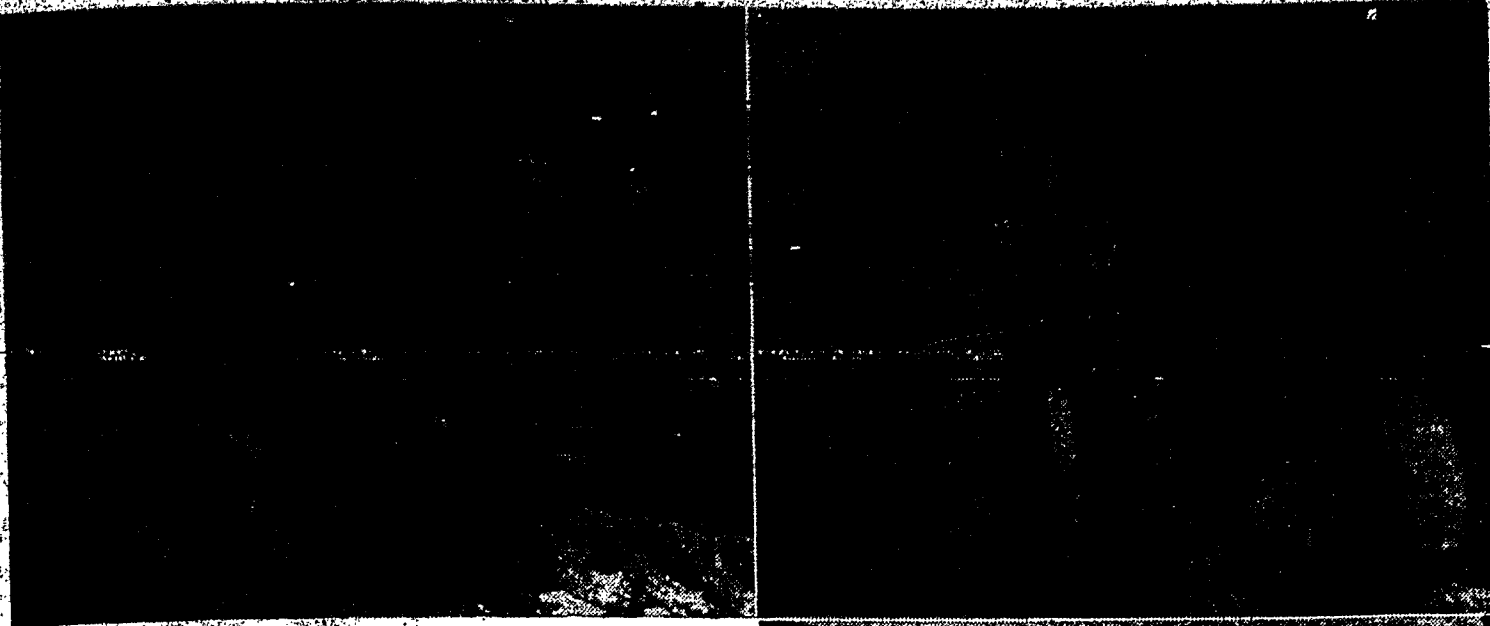

Newspapers, even the biggest of them, all started by being close to the interests, wishes and tastes of the people. They all started small, with limited capital, and those that deserved to grow, grew. Newspapers were not started by tremendous aggregations of wealth in New York or Hollywood with an "idea" to put over or sell. And many of the men who are successfully editing or publishing papers today started as boys—as printer's devils—in a country weekly office.

Newspapers have never forgotten that people want to read news about the people they know—their neighbors. In the Daily Herald you will find news of world and national affairs—but you will also find out about the doings and happenings on your own street and the next block.

SOUTHERN BELL RUSHES MEN AND MATERIALS TO ICE DEVASTATED MISSISSIPPI AREAS

ABOVE RIGHT: Unloading 5775 pounds of insulated wire flown via Delta Air Lines from Atlanta to Jackson on February 4 to restore temporary service to long distance circuits. Similar air shipments were made to Meridian and Greenwood.

RIGHT: These two Atlanta trucks and their crews of experienced craftsmen and supervisors are among many rushed to Mississippi from Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, Kentucky, Florida, South Carolina and Louisiana to help in the emergency.

Aiming at restoring telephone service as rapidly as possible throughout the ice-devastated areas of Mississippi, Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company has called on the vast resources of the entire Bell System and its subsidiary, the Western Electric Company, for help in repairing the estimated damage of more than two million dollars to the telephone system of the state.

Every available experienced craftsman and supervisor in the state and hundreds from all over the South and other sections are now at work clearing away broken poles and unsnarling tangled lines and carrying on the work of erecting new poles and installing the equipment needed to restore telephone service. Now mobilized to help with the work in Mississippi are over 1800 telephone men with more than 550 vehicles from the states of Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, Louisiana, Kentucky, South Carolina and Florida.

Temporary centers for dispatching orders to the work crews have been established at strategic points throughout the state so that the work of the crews and the distribution of materials may be conducted properly.

Over two million feet of wire and tons of other materials have been rushed to Mississippi, according to T. E. Harris, Mississippi Manager for Southern Bell, and all surplus poles, cross-arms and insulators are being rushed from warehouses all over the South.

"We are even receiving wire and other repair parts by air," stated Mr. Harris, "when the emergency requires it and it is practicable as for instance the approximately 3-ton shipment of insulated wire shown in the accompanying picture as it arrived at the Jackson airport on February 4th. That shipment enabled us to restore service on a temporary basis to much needed long distance circuits. It came from the Atlanta warehouse of the Western Electric Company, Bell System's manufacturing subsidiary."

"In Western Electric warehouses and plants throughout the country men are working around the clock," continued Mr. Harris, "in order to help supply the materials we are going to need to restore service to the estimated 23,000 local telephones in Mississippi which are now without service."

"One of the bigger jobs," said Mr. Harris, "is to secure the poles and do the work of erection required to replace the 14,000 poles now on the ground; and besides this there are the hundreds of miles of wire and cable now down which must be repaired or entirely replaced in many cases."

"The speed with which we are proceeding with this work," he continued, "would not be possible without our ability to draw on the vast resources of our nationwide organization for men whose training and methods are uniform, who use the same tools to erect and install identical materials all made to the same specifications. Yes, it is fortunate for us here in Mississippi today, that we are members of a coast-to-coast system with standardized methods, tools and materials."

Asked for an estimate of how long it will require to restore the disrupted service, Mr. Harris said, "The damage extends from the Tennessee line to and including a general line across the state south of Hattiesburg, McComb and Natchez. We are attacking the whole job at once; restoring temporary service to isolated towns and communities first; carrying along service to all other places on the way; distributing the work as well as we are able throughout the affected areas. Our best present estimate, in view of the extent of the damage, is that some individual homes may be without telephone service for from three to four weeks.

"Every one of us in the Southern Bell family has a deep and sincere wish to be of the greatest possible service to every telephone subscriber now as always," Mr. Harris concluded, "and we heartily appreciate the patience and understanding of our subscribers and the many kind things they have said about our great program of expansion in Mississippi and are saying now about the way we are going about the task of restoring the damage done by the ice storm. Ours is a big and expensive repair job, but we are not counting the cost. Our engineers and executives are working around the clock and our army of craftsmen is working as fast as possible every possible working hour—all to uphold the Southern Bell tradition of the best service always."

ONLY ONE— PHILOSOPHEME —FOR LIVING

They are lived... Thus they did reap
D. W. ELLIOTT

How three geese flying North this morning. Wonder if these were the same of that great flock seen winging their way during the recent hunting season. Some, perhaps, foraging to see the way the birds swiftly nosing their way in this damp grey dawn. For you in mind of life itself; the geese will fly many hundreds of miles through all kinds of weather for every day to reach home again. Last fall a whole beautiful flock took off in a huge majestic "V" to head for the warmer South—and now, only three are winding their way home. Sorta sad, but they never knew the future or what it held. They were only driven by a sense of life probably centuries old.

The funny thing is (if you will only think it to yourself), you can and DO know where you're headed. There should be no doubt whatsoever. If there is, the lightest pang of wonderment... better check up on yourself and find out what puts this shadow on your confidence.

You simply have to follow your conscience, smile and "believe"; strive ever so seriously to make your loved ones happy and gradually you will spread your confidence and smile to others. Once you receive the self-confidence of a full life the rest will be easy... automatic.

Of course, it seems unfair and unnecessary at first to the lost-man to give up all his merriment and falsefulness for such abstract things as contentment, happiness, love and peace—but once that first step is taken (as a new-born baby learning to walk) the rest become increasingly simple and realization dawns that these are really the only objectives.

Would you trade brass for gold; glass for rubies or life for death? It is truth that says "the best things in life are free." Those abstract payments for a "good" life—contentment, happiness, love and peace—are in reality what every man seeks; what all men, in their peculiar ways and regional habits, want!

It is written that you shall surely perish (even as you live) if you persist in following the way of the ungodly. As thus demonstrated in the following:

A true story is told of such a man who went his way alone, asking help of no man and assisting no one. He turned a deaf ear to the pleas of relatives and the "Word" to amend and repent. His philosophy was to live fast and roudy; be gay and man-of-the-world while alive. Turn his life to the will of sin and riotous living. He would do as he "pleased" until he came to his death bed—then ask forgiveness and ascend into heaven and again forever and ever have a life of a happy being.

He had said many times that there would "always be time to repent when death was near; it only takes a minute."

But, alas, one clear and beautiful star-studded evening, on his way to meet his old and only friend, Satan, a tree fell on him, instantly smashing the life from his body. He didn't have his "minute!"

—Ever read the First Psalm...

1 Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of the scornful, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful.

2 But his delight is in the law of the LORD; and in his law doth he meditate day and night.

3 And he shall be like a tree planted by the rivers of water, that bringeth forth his fruit in his season; his leaf also shall not wither; and whatsoever he doeth shall prosper.

4 The ungodly are not so; but are like the chaff which the wind driveth away.

5 Therefore the ungodly shall not stand in the judgment, nor sinners in the congregation of the righteous.

6 For the LORD knoweth the way of the righteous; but the way of the ungodly shall perish.

—Dwell on it.

NEGRO WOMAN FOUND DEAD IN WOODS

Willie Smith, employee of J. E. V. Holzer, found the body of Arthalis Williams who had been missing from her home on Sycamore Street since January 3, on Wednesday, Feb. 14 in the woods between the O'Dwyer and Williams property on South Beach.

The dead woman, who had been ill for some time, had made her home in Bay St. Louis for the past nineteen years.

On the evening of her disappearance she apparently became confused in the fog and wandered off in the direction of Waveland instead of returning to her house. She was last seen alive by men working near the Evans property on South Beach. Searching parties were organized to beat the woods near where she was last seen but were unable to find her. When the body was discovered it was concealed from any one passing by underbrush and fallen limbs.

A verdict of death by exposure was returned by a coroner's jury composed of Edgar Bourgeois, Paul Egloff, M. D. Rutherford, Fred Bourgeois, Oswald Villere, and Benedict Bourgeois.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday by Fahey's Funeral home with religious services presided over at Cedar Rest Cemetery by Rev. E. Granet. Survivors are her children, Lawrence, Edward, Viola and Cleven Williams and several sisters of Pearlington, where the deceased was born.

Benton Celebration Hails Big Project By Southern Bell

BENTON—More than 200 residents of Benton County gathered here for the ceremony, sponsored by the Benton County Chamber of Commerce, which marked the start of modern dial

The devastating ice storm that swept Mississippi did untold damage to Southern Bell's system throughout the entire state.

Tons of ice forced thousands of poles to the ground, snapped wires and cables and threw thousands of telephones out of service.

Many towns had no telephone service and over half of the long distance lines in the state were interrupted.

Major construction will be required to rehabilitate many areas, including such rural projects as the recently completed one in the Benton community, where the devastation caused by the ice will require the rebuilding of over 85 per cent of the entire project.

Telephone service by the Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company over what will soon be one of the state's largest network of rural telephone lines.

On this occasion dial service via 20 Southern Bell lines was made available to 140 rural subscribers in 225 square miles of the county. By March when the entire development is completed at a total cost of approximately $135,000.00 it will include 40 lines which will provide modern dial telephone service to about 275 subscribers.

The new dial switching unit at Benton over which service was inaugurated at this time is connected by rural lines directly to the Yazo City telephone exchange and any subscriber whose telephone is connected to the unit may communicate with any other subscriber whose telephone is also connected to the unit directly by dialing the number desired. The monthly rate paid by the customers entitles them to an unlimited number of messages to any other local telephone connected to the Yazo City exchange of which the switching unit is a part.

The unit at Benton affords dial telephone facilities for this com-munally and the communities of Midway, Zeigerville, Pearce Cross Roads, Nod, Fugates, Fordyke, Evans, Vaughan, Deasonville, Berryville and Myrtleville.

According to T. E. Harris, Mississippi Manager for Southern Bell, who was the principal speaker for the occasion, this is the first such unit to be placed in service by the telephone company in Mississippi since 1949. Other units are located in the following counties: Winston, Quitman, Monroe, and Leake.

"During 1950 we reached the peak of a five year period of remarkable rural telephone expansion program here in Mississippi," Mr. Harris continued, "In those 5 years we increased the number of our rural subscribers in the state from 8335 to 34,235 as of January first. That was a gain of 310 per cent! During the same time the overall number of Southern Bell telephones in the state rose from 115,876 to 219,145. Our total expenditure for new facilities in Mississippi during the five years was over 45 million dollars and of this approximately 7 1/2 million dollars went into rural extensions.

"Despite the remarkable telephone progress which Southern Bell has already brought to Mississippi, demands continue heavy for more and better service throughout the state. Meeting these needs is highly important to the continued progress of Mississippi. The Company is eager to do the job. We want to continue extending service in the rural areas as well as provide for the needs in urban areas.

"However, if the demands are to be met, it is to be kept good, improved and expanded to meet the full requirements throughout Mississippi, tremendous quantities of additional telephone equipment must be installed in the next months and years that follow. This will cost a lot of money, and this money must be raised in the form of a bond issue.

Apply for Permit To Build New Bay Highway Bridge

The Mississippi state highway commission has received from the Army Corps of Engineers, Mobile, for a permit to construct a bridge on US Highway 90 between Henderson Point and Bay St. Louis.

The concrete span would be constructed over a portion of Bay of St. Louis.

Any objections to the project from a navigation standpoint should be filed with the Corps of Engineers not later than Feb. 20.

The highway commission proposes to construct a four-lane toll concrete bridge across the bay. The toll structure, to replace the present two-way toll-free wooden span, was authorized at the last session of the Mississippi legislature.

At a recent meeting in Jackson, the highway commission, by a two to one vote, went on record to locate the new bridge about 2000 feet north of the present location.

This action was taken after protest of a group of Bay St. Louis businessmen who told the commission that moving of the bridge would wreck many businesses on US Highway 90 at the present bridge crossing.

No bids have been asked for the actual construction of the new bridge.

Sidewalk Soliloquies...

by
The Beachcomber

Today is the birthday of George Washington, the "Father of our Country," and one of the greatest Americans who ever lived... perhaps if we had a few Washingtons around today they could lead us out of the dilemma into which our country has fallen... it must be gratifying to Father Hoffman, who is this week putting on the mission at Our Lady of the Gulf Church to see the overflow crowds attending the services each night and morning... both Waveland and Pass Christian are well represented among those attending... just goes to show that we have not forgotten the need of religion in our daily lives... nor have we forgotten that earnest prayer often gets from Him what we fail to receive from mortal man... they say that lightning never strikes twice in the same place, but that myth was exploded here recently, when three tragic accidents claimed three lives within the comparatively short space of one week... when we see things like these we wonder why we live in such a state of envy, hate and terror, such as exists in the world today... we understand that the hearing relative to the location of the new bridge may be reopened and reconsidered... that there is a chance the decision made at the recent meeting in Jackson may be reversed... this is mighty good news if true... a hundred or more telegrams from interested citizens in Bay St. Louis were sent to the Highway Commission in Jackson this week requesting a rehearing... we shall be waiting now to see what develops as a result of this latest move... perhaps Messrs. Roebuck and Adams can be shown the light after all... let us hope so, for the good of our town and its future... the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club will hold an election on March 3rd for a new board of governors... just a short time left to sign for your home exemptions for 1951, better do it now, or you may be too late... Brother Linus, former genial veep at St. Stanislaus, was in town Sunday for a few hours, but made sure to visit with his friends for a few minutes at least... it was nice to see him...

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

By
JAMES L. BISHOP
Soil Conservation Service

Donald Wahl of Standard Community, a cooperor, with the Hancock County Soil Conservation District, planted Bicolor this week. Wahl prepared three planting beds, spaced three feet apart, running around the edge of the field adjacent to the woods. Fertilizer was added while the beds were prepared. The Bicolor was planted on the beds spaced two feet apart. Wahl pointed out that he had an erosion problem around the edges of his field. Every year when "I gathered the crops I noticed little yield on these places. During summer it was so dry, grass could not grow. The soil was exposed and when it rained this winter the top soil washed off." Wahl added, "I am going to stop the erosion by planting Bicolor and add a ten foot strip of Leucaena Sericea between the Bicolor and crops. I understand this combination of plants are well adapted to the soils around the edges of the field and is effective in preventing erosion which occurs frequently in these areas. I understand after the Bicolor and Sericea borders become well established it makes an excellent feeding and nesting place for our native Bob Whites. I have three covies of quail on my farm and I hope to increase the bird population where hunting will be a pleasure. Terraces were surveyed this week. R. J. Rouse, Joseph L. Laddner, R. B. Shaw and Hugh Laddner, S. C. S. technicians assisted the cooperators to survey terraces. The Soil Conservation District Commissioners are sponsoring Soil Conservation education pictures in Kila, Deaux, Sellers, Leetown and Lakeshore schools next week. Schedules are being prepared and the public will be advised before show time.
